

Tu b'shvat; today is the tree's birthday celebration!!: hug and thank a tree--shade, oxygen beauty:) love love and Gratefulness

Love this reminder! We need our trees for their beauty, their often ancient presence and for keeping our planet healthy. Happy birthday to all trees everywhere! Love, J/Mom/Grandma

Tu b'shvat

Feb 12, 1990 Adding this holiday. Coming from a place of barrenness - (empty, dark of winter, feeling seeds deep in the ground. The white noise. Yet, I feel a "fire" climate, a tough Zen centeredness. "in spite of."

It is, re-planting seeds of relationships. Professionally, a window of re-opening, ---

Seed cl: --- have above will I grow tree

	hard cut	5-12 inch	plum
420	5-12 inch	plum
air	5-12 inch	plum
fire	none	hard

Deepening Roots into the earth.

Wendell Berry:

In nature, what ^{dies} decays provides the fertility for what is to come.

Q2

Q2

Don't grieve,
anything you lose comes around in another form.
Rumi, opening secret

Dr. Ken Wilber: a day of politics & history - something to garden of biosphere.
a day of meditation, contemplation of the tree that sustains all life -- we can never afford to sustain all life.

Edman: 1950s: Once we orient to the flow of God energy, a being, amidst the point where we consciously & unintentionally exist in harmony with it, we too become energies.